We’re pleased that your child is considering the University of Tennessee at Martin. As a parent or guardian, we know that you want the best college education possible for your student. UT Martin offers a high-quality academic experience in a safe, traditional college setting.

Students discover who they are at UT Martin and find direction for life after college. Not only do they build lasting friendships and personal connections, but students also forge meaningful relationships with faculty members through small class sizes, one-on-one attention and academic mentoring.

I also encourage you to consider the value of a University of Tennessee degree. Upon graduation, your child will join a network of engaged UT and UT Martin alumni that’s shaping the future of our region, our state and our nation. It’s no surprise that UT Martin is first in the state among public universities for student satisfaction as reported in the 2011-12 Tennessee Higher Education Fact Book.

If you or your child has a problem for which you can’t find a ready answer, I invite you to call me. Thank you for considering our great university.

Sincerely,

Dr. Tom Rakes, UT Martin Chancellor

“UT Martin is a great asset to our state. We believe it is the key university in West Tennessee to generate professionals that will lead our state and country in the near future.” Patti (UTK ‘89) and Rance Barnes Sr. (UTM ‘84/86, UTK ‘89)

High-Quality Academics

We work hard at UT Martin to offer your student a high-quality total educational experience. So besides excellent academics, we offer opportunities that allow our students to grow and prepare for successful and rewarding careers in the global economy.

Consider This:

• UT Martin students earn a University of Tennessee degree. UT Martin is a primary campus in the University of Tennessee System.

• Almost 19% of UT Martin entering students were in the top 10% of their high school graduating class.

• 80.4% percent of our classes have fewer than 30 students (Spring 2013).

• UT Martin is home to two Tennessee Governor’s Schools: the Tennessee Governor’s School for the Humanities and the Tennessee Governor’s School for the Agricultural Sciences.

• UT Martin is home to three chairs of excellence: the Gil Parker Chair of Excellence in the Department of Agriculture, Geosciences, and Natural Resources, and the Horace and Sara Dunagan Chair of Excellence in Banking and the Tom E. Hendrix Chair of Excellence in Free Enterprise in the College of Business and Global Affairs.

A Supportive Learning Community

Helping students achieve academic and career goals is the mission of the Student Success Center. Beginning with Summer Orientation and Registration (SOAR), we offer assistance and resources designed to help students from the first day of class to graduation.

Services Include:
• Academic assistance from study skills counseling to tutoring;
• Academic and career counseling from deciding upon a major to career exploration;
• Career and learning assessments, such as the Strong Interest Inventory and the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator;
• Testing services, including CLEP;
• General Studies courses designed to help with college transition, college success and career exploration; and
• Disability services

Student success is our goal at the Student Success Center.

Disability Services

If a student has a disability, the Office of Disability Services is here to help. We provide reasonable accommodations and equal access to educational opportunities for students with documented disabilities.

Reading Center

The Reading Center can help students read faster, increase vocabulary and understand and remember more of what is read.

Writing Center

The Hortense Parrish Writing Center is committed to helping students become better editors and writers. Through individualized tutoring, writing workshops, computer workshops, roundtable discussions, basic skills review, Talk Time and other offerings, the writing center serves as an academic support service. Center assistants work at all levels of the writing process as they help students learn how to evaluate and edit prose.

Mathematics Learning Center

Offers free tutoring for all mathematics courses, as well as self-paced courses with lecture and testing options.
Our Faculty are Leaders

Dr. Christopher Karmosky, assistant professor in the Department of Agriculture, Geosciences, and Natural Resources, teaches courses in the relatively new meteorology concentration at the University of Tennessee at Martin. The concentration was created in 2010 and remains the only one of its kind in Tennessee.

Meteorology students will graduate with a geosciences major with a concentration in meteorology, and then have the choice between a climatology tract that focuses on statistics or a theoretical tract that focuses on the physics of the atmosphere.

“In severe weather, we actually take one week and focus on a different phenomenon. One week we focused on hurricanes, the next we focused on tornadoes, severe thunderstorms,” he said.

“We’ve had students intern with the National Weather Service and different T.V. stations in Nashville, Paducah and Memphis. Because we also have a strong geographic component, students will have the opportunity to get involved in careers with emergency management.”

Living in Our Community
The UT Martin campus consists of 48 buildings on a 250-acre main campus, with an additional 680 acres of agricultural land for research and teaching.

University Village apartments offer apartment-style living on campus. Both complexes offer fully furnished apartments combined with the convenience of living on campus.

At UT Martin, residence halls offer many of the amenities your student would have at home, including a smoke-free environment. Most students who live in the residence halls share a room with another person and share a fully-equipped bathroom with three people.

A typical residence hall room at UT Martin also offers the following:
• telephone connections;
• cable TV access;
• air-conditioning;
• a security access system; and
• wireless Internet.

Remember that first-year students must live on campus unless commuting from the home of parents or legal guardians within a 50-mile radius.

Just a couple of minutes walk from any residence hall and University Village, you will find UT Martin’s new state-of-the-art Student Recreation Center, as well as the cafeteria and food court, which offer a variety of food choices, including Chick-fil-A, Mein Bowl, Southern Tsunami Sushi and Sandella’s Flatbread Cafe.
